

ETAR - Eagle Eye Competition

What: A fun competitive shoot (Ages 13+) to test your skill against others where you can win upwards of $1,000. The winner of the Eagle Eye Competition receives half of the money raised, as well as the deer target used in the shootout.

Price: It costs $2 per shot to qualify for the competition. Those who qualify will compete against all other qualifiers in a shootout on Saturday at 5pm.

Benefits: LEEK Hunting & Mountain Preserve is a local organization which offers hunting, fishing, and recreational experiences to our disabled veterans. Half of all of the proceeds from the Eagle Eye Competition each year goes to benefit this worthy group.

Rules: The rules are simple. Any type of arrow may be used to qualify, however when in the shootout itself, competitors MUST use a wooden arrow. Qualifying shots need only to have the arrow touch the inch and a quarter orange dot. The shootout is an elimination competition, going to sudden death if needed.

Kids' : Kids are eligible to compete as well in a separate kids' competition (through age 12). The kids' target is a foam block on top of a stump which must be touched by the arrow for a qualifying shot. In the shootout itself kids compete in a shootout by age, with the target at varying distances and sizes. The winner of each age range wins a small target.

Remember it's just for fun...and it's a good cause....so enjoy!
